Tales of love, sex, power, betrayal, heinous crimes, unbearable separations, atrocious revenge, and metamorphoses - the poetic force of the myths has crossed the centuries.

This series sets out to recount these ancient stories using animations created especially for the occasion, and illustrations chosen from the entire history of art. This dynamic blend, a bridge between modernity and history, ancient narrative and contemporary dramatic art, is a new way to discover or re-discover this part of our universal heritage.

To show the Russian Revolution in a new light, we recount it as though for the first time, through a narrative that is immersed in the reality of the events from February to October 1917.

The aim is to arouse in viewers something similar to the dizzying blend of elation and anxiety experienced by the actors of the Revolution - in their presence, hearing their own words, and seeing things from their perspective. This calls for a dual narrative - one immediate, sensitive and unpredictable: Maxim Gorky, the other cold, like history, tactical, always planning the next move: Vladimir Ilyich Lenin.

Both the writer and the leader of the revolution were haunted by the failure of the last great European revolution, the Paris Commune in 1871. But they drew diametrically opposed lessons from it, as borne out in their obsessions and their temperaments.

Mussolini's mistress and advisor, remains a nearly forgotten woman in the Duce's entourage. 20 years of intense, loving, and reciprocal passion. For Mussolini, Margherita was his shadow, his phantom, and his speechwriter. She was the Duce's "other wife". She was Jewish.

Born in 1880 in a 15th-century palace on the edge of the old ghetto of Venice, Margherita Sarfatti spent the rest of her youth in the Palazzo Bembo on the Grand Canal. Her father wanted her to have the best tutors.

But that did not prevent her from becoming a militant socialist and, later, one of the most listened to members of the party, and yet, an avant-garde feminist. Her salon, first in Milan then in Rome, attracted famous composers, writers, and artists from Italy and abroad. She loved to collect "precious people".

In helping to create the Novecento Italiano, the artistic movement dedicated to Fascism, she gathered the leading figures of the day. In 1923, she had the first Novecento exhibition in Milan opened by her lover, Benito Mussolini.

By going back over the key events of the last two centuries of social history, No Gods, No Masters reveals, for the first time, the origins and destiny of a political trend that has been fighting all masters and all gods for over 150 years.

Who exactly are they? Where do those who have always called themselves anarchists come from, and what is their line of thought? Given that they have been tracked, hunted down and shut away, why are their faces not familiar to us? Why do we consider their thinking to be confused and their history such a cause for concern?

Featuring previously unseen and forgotten archive footage, in addition to outstanding documentation and accounts by world experts, this documentary series recounts the history of a movement that from Paris to New York, and from Tokyo to Buenos Aires, has constantly imbued the world with its freedom and revolt.

YUGOSLAVIA, THE OTHER SIDE OF THE LOOKING GLASS

Over two films, this documentary reveals the formation and disintegration, within our own time, of a neighbouring European State named Yugoslavia.

Part One covers the period from 1918 to 1980, the year of Marshal Tito's death, and explores the circumstances surrounding Yugoslavia's foundation, as well as the years of unity beneath the banner of Tito's version of communism. Part Two (1980-2001) concerns the catastrophic circumstances that befell the country from the dissolution of communism up until its final collapse during the five fratricidal wars. Weaved into Part Two will be an exploration of the current state of affairs in the former Yugoslavian States today, from which vital lessons can be drawn for contemporary fissiparous struggles in the Ukraine and elsewhere.

The 9/11 attacks in 2001 upended the approach of security experts and changed the face of world nuclear safety. Faced with the recent developments in world terrorism, what new defence strategies do nuclear countries possess when it comes to defending their nuclear power production sites, classed as "essential operators" in France?

How to prevent the theft of material with a view to making a dirty bomb? How to safeguard stocks of plutonium and highly enriched uranium? Whose responsibility is it? Who recommends what action should be taken? Who oversees the overall measures that are carried out? Who foots the bill?

An investigation among strategists and defence agencies of several nuclear countries, in the US, France and Germany. But also among independent experts, former industry leaders, former members of safety authorities, political leaders, and associations that denounce an insufficient consideration of certain flaws.

By comparing these two visions of nuclear safety, the film questions the viability of an industry that is unlike any other, confronted with emerging threats that had not been previously envisaged.

What environmental and human realities does the question of returning to Fukushima encompass? More than 5 years after the triple disaster, the new lives the former exclusion zone residents are making for themselves warrant examination.

The nuclear accident and ensuing evacuation turned their lives upside down. Where and how to start life anew after events like these? In addition to the threat from radioactivity and the difficulties of starting again from scratch, the inhabitants must now face the fierce desire of the Japanese authorities to re-conquer the land in the region of Fukushima. The Japanese government is decontaminating the forbidden zone left, right and centre, re-opening towns and encouraging the 80,000 residents who evacuated the zone to return. It wants to erase everything and start all over again, despite the still elevated levels of radioactivity.

Who? When? How? Why? This series immerses us in the chaos at the dark heart of crime fiction, taking us on journey through the labyrinthine workings of the whodunnit, with many a shudder along the way.

Nowadays, one published novel in four is a "roman noir", a "thriller" or a "detective story". How did crime fiction come to be so popular that it is now a universal language everyone can understand?

Through interviews with present-day creators of crime fiction, Part 1 of Anatomy of Crime Fiction analyses the fateful trio of the victim, the murderer and the detective, piecing together a profile of the 3 emblematic figures who provide the starting-point for all good whodunnits, while Parts 2 and 3 explore locations and plots.

Fashion loves a scandal. In fact, it only progresses thanks to scandals - from the juicy to the thorny, to the spicy to the laughable.

There are various types of scandal in fashion, and this series endeavours to examine all of them, in a humorous light, seeking the fly in the ointment, the revealing or raunchy anecdote. Loïc Prigent wants to reveal fashion's state of mind, and one of its principles: how to get ahead if you don't respect a thing. Fashion thinks outside the box - and therefore frequently clashes, often for better, sometimes for worse - and sometimes for the grotesque.

Shortly after the Second World War, Parisian haute couture experienced an extraordinary revival epitomised by Dior's New Look, Givenchy's elegance, Chanel's style and Balenciaga's sophistication. It was a golden age, but it was also a swan song - the last blaze of glory of a world that had become an anachronism.

Through the intertwined careers of the great couturiers of the period and their eccentric, immensely rich customers, Paris Couture conjures up a world that has vanished forever - the world of the great couture houses, with its fancy dress balls and salons.

During those 25 years, the couturiers were able to give their imaginations a free rein, indulging in every possible extravagance, but the democratization of fashion, the advent of the leisure society and increasingly affordable air travel were to hasten the decline of haute couture.

Haute Couture is the Acropolis of fashion. It is majestic, impressive and somewhat in ruins - but it remains a symbol. Its biggest shortcoming is that not many people really know what Haute Couture is anymore, often confusing it with luxury Ready-to-Wear. So what exactly is Haute Couture?

"It is doxa, a guarantee of quality, a Parisian tradition, a fashion reserved for an elite, a price range, clients, couturiers (and no longer creators), and a media platform. In this documentary, I want to explain what Haute Couture is through the detailed filming of a week of Haute Couture fashion shows in Paris" explains Loïc Prigent.

INNOVATION ON BOARD

From France to Indonesia, young engineer Corentin de Chatelperron and his crew sail their catamaran Nomad of the Seas on a quest for self-sufficiency. The aim of their "low-tech" world tour is to find simple solutions to universal problems.

Corentin and his organization Gold of Bengal have launched a challenge to experts, students, organizations, do-it-yourselfers and scientists all over the world to invent "low tech" systems - simple methods that help human beings reclaim their independence. These techniques require a great deal of ingenuity and talent but a low level of financial resources.

During each stopover - which constitutes each episode - we discover a particular aspect of a country through the topic covered, such as the desalination of seawater in Morocco, electronics recycling in Togo and the consumption of insects in Thailand. For each stopover, the crew meets low-tech inventors and innovators, who are seeking to solve universal problems of food, energy, water and material resources.

The series follows the first year of the expedition. As the crew clock up their successes, some failures and various experiments, the boat gradually undergoes a transformation, becoming increasingly autonomous, thanks to the low-tech systems it has adopted.

Arthur de Kersauson, a young city-dweller hooked on extreme sports and thirsty for adventure, and Antoine Auriol, World Champion in the Kiteboard Pro World Tour and model for Lacoste perfumes, set out in search of the winds of the world, collecting facts, fiction and amusing anecdotes.

Their quest takes them all over the world, to destinations that include France, Reunion Island, Morocco, Turkey, Quebec, India, Namibia, Spain, Mexico, Ireland and Chile.

The wind carves out the landscape of a country and shapes its inhabitants, customs and culture. These incisive, entertaining mini-road movies document our travellers' encounters with local people - moving, instructive, sometimes bizarre and always exotic. Wherever the wind blows,

A world tour of ancestral medicinal practices, among majestic landscapes.

Bernard Fontanille is an emergency doctor used to operations in difficult conditions. During his various missions he travelled all over the planet to cure, shield, heal, take care of people and to ease pain. Led by his strong sense of humanity and his curiosity, he makes us discover and shares with us the lives of women and men caring for others, saving lives, and sometimes inventing new ways of treatment.

He also shows us traditional forms of medicine deeply rooted in the local culture. Through his various encounters and by presented methods he shows us the different realities of a country and also the universal link that unites a patient and his doctor: humanity and confidence.

Are biopesticides - micro-organisms that fight pests naturally - the promise of a chemical-free agriculture? Farmers all over the world are converting to biopesticides, stimulated by scientific research that is opening up new perspectives. But is the technique risk-free for the environment?

Invertebrates, insects, mites, fungi, bacteria, viruses ... these living mini-organisms that scientists are studying in great detail worldwide, will here make light work of pests. Today they are our best hope of a pesticide-free agriculture that is so harmful to man and the environment.

So are biopesticides revolutionary? In Europe, Brazil and India, millions of farmers have already adopted bioprotectors. Today, the agro-chemical industry is investing heavily in the sector, but promising as it is, the technique is still far from being infallible, and is not entirely devoid of risk to the ecosystem.

Human consciousness, which is unique in the living world, has remained a mystery of divine origin for thousands of years. But today, recent and spectacular scientific progress (from medical imagery to quantum physics) is starting to shed light on it.

I think therefore I am. But who thinks inside of us? Who are we? This film takes us on a journey beyond our brains. Like conscience, human intelligence has propelled Man to the peak of evolution, giving him the opportunity to dominate the world. And yet today, intelligence would seem to have broken down. Average IQ is dropping. Through this investigation into the nature of intelligence and multiple intelligences, we discover the reasons for this breakdown, and how we can give our intelligence another boost, thanks to scientific progress, including brain cell transplants.

As famous in his time as Picasso, the painter Bernard Buffet experienced glory but it was followed by a fall from grace.

Today, he has finally achieved recognition. Despite his inimitable style, he was marginalised for half a century on account of his popular success, his millionaire's lifestyle and his contempt for the art world. A look back over the life of a controversial artist, today considered a precursor of Pop Art.

Since 2012, China has been the world number one in art sales. Who are these artists? What drives them and how do they combat censorship?

Contemporary Chinese art was finally able to take off after Mao's death. Artists have revisited Western art and some have hijacked Communist propaganda, adding to it a criticism of the Western consumerism that is sweeping the country. Art is well placed to observe the excesses of Chinese society, and has become the flag bearer for aspirations to freedom. These contemporary works symbolise people's wounds and hardships, and State violence.

Although two artists - Basquiat and Koons - constitute 50% of the American market, China has 47 artists in the top 100, and nearly half them are newcomers.

Through personal encounters with the most original and avant-garde artists, in their workshops or during performances, this film sets out to understand their work and what motivates them, as well as looking at how they fight censorship.

This collection explores history of art in a totally new way. Each film is a journey, an investigation and an adventure. The painting comes to life, as animation overrides the limits of the frame, taking us to the heart of the canvass and plunging us into its era and history.

The great works of the past portray abundant testimonies, and are imbued with secrets and are teeming with mysteries. Beneath the surface of the painting, details awaken, to recount the spirit of the times and the vagaries of History, such as wars, revolutions, economic transformation, scientific discovery, beliefs and schools of thought.

Between eclecticism and accessibility, this series traces the outline of an original history of dance in the 20th century, striving to show how it is rooted in society.

A rapid, dazzling 3-part panorama centred on nudity, atypical bodies and feet.

3 brand new documentaries explore the major figures of group dance, duet and solo.

Examining these figures takes us to the very heart of the practice of dance - the multiple forms of dance - reflecting on their techniques, sensuality, discipline, body language, physical characteristics, reasoning and lineage. The collection follows the creative process of solo, duet and group choreography, and in doing so, sheds light on the elements that have forged their history.

In a suburban town that has been badly affected by the closure of the region's only factory, solidarity is organised in the form of women's wrestling matches. These events turn the destinies of four friends - Céline, Selma, Nathalie and Agathe - upside down.

The closure of the reputable ladies' underwear factory Voltanelle has propelled the town to the edge of a precipice. Good times have given way to rising unemployment and an increasingly widening social divide, which is proving to be a boon for a racist political party.

Determined not to go in silence, the former female factory workers decide to organise a women's wrestling tournament, along very simple lines, with a fight every Friday. The money collected at the door is shared among the women wrestlers and the best of them all will be the happy winner of the jackpot.

HD

As the battle for local elections rages, the wrestling matches - which spur some people on but are a source of shame for others - fall prey to politics. The event crystallises people's passions, debates, dreams and disappointments... until the grand finale between Céline and Diabolica.

Bad Mother. Bad Mistress. Workplace physician.

Isabelle Adjani is Carole Matthieu - a workplace physician employed in a call center who has become emotionally involved in the suffering of her humiliated coworkers, exposed to both physical and emotional violence. Powerless to stop the endless flow of employees that come to see her on a daily basis, she decides to take action one evening.

When one employee, whom she has previously saved from a suicide attempt, comes to see her, she decides to end it all... for him. In a frantic race against time, police search for a culprit, unions dither on the stance they should take, and the management tries to keep up a front, to hold on to their market share.

Despite these obstacles, and the doubt and guilt consuming her, the slayer-cum-saviour workplace angel is determined to recount "the other story", using notes, letters and medical records. The story of men and women, crushed under the mechanics of performance and profit.
